

The Jane Wynn School Nutrition Excellence Award

All FSNA Award Submissions are due May 3rd

The Jane Wynn School Nutrition Excellence Award recognizes an individual whose service, exceptional work and/or deeds has served to inspire excellence in the school nutrition program in Florida, thereby improving the quality of the lives of Florida's most important asset, our children. The recipient will have demonstrated excellence in leadership, policy innovation and/or policy delivery that leads to positive social or economic outcomes for the school nutrition community and its' customers.

To inform you of Jane's accomplishments, she was a true pioneer of child nutrition and was a lifelong advocate for school nutrition as a leader, a mentor, and an innovator. The lives of many people across this country were changed because Jane gave of her time to help them grow professionally and personally. Her passion for child nutrition led her to serve as FSNA President, 1977-1978, and ten years later, Jane served as the national president of SNA. Even after her retirement in 2003, she still advocated for Florida's students and the belief that building a sound nutritional foundation for children through school meals would serve our students well into adulthood.

This award, dedicated to Jane Wynn, will highlight the exceptional acts of individuals who work tirelessly to support our children.
